A Great Collaboration

Two weeks ago some of the youth undertook a 35 hour fast. I'm not sure how many people fast anymore, and to be honest, I don't unless I'm running an event. It's a tough thing to endure especially with access to food that is just sitting around and waiting for us to purchase. And while we raise funds for World Vision because they sponsor this event, we pretty much run our own program with our own lessons and missions.

This year we spent the better part of our Saturday morning in Waukegan working with Yvette Ewing and the Fuller Center for Housing in Lake County who are busy targeting local needs in housing, wellness, and job training. Back in January we worked with Yvette building raised beds, trellises and garden boxes for a teaching garden they were installing this spring. This time around we got to help install some of that work and build upon it by planting new seeds for a vegetable garden, composting their Manna Garden on the south side of Waukegan, and creating structures for beans to climb.

The hard truth is that there isn't good, affordable access to healthy foods in that part of the county. The south side of Waukegan and North Chicago are what you call a food desert, and that is a little hard to swallow in a county with such clear abundance. So it has been a humbling pleasure thus far to be in spirited collaboration with our neighbors in ministry.

And that kind of creative collaboration is what I want to bear witness to today. Collaboration by way of relationships and shared knowledge sees past scarcity and reveals abundance. It can see past problems and envision hope. And I believe abundance is what everyone is hoping for. In 6 short hours this Winter and Spring The Fuller Center and UMCL have put together eight new raised beds and eight new trellises to organically address a local food crisis. That's all it took to work toward abundance. Food should never be an issue. The earth is capable of producing more than enough for us all if we tend to it well. If food is an issue, it is the result of injustices, broken relationships, and a lack of collaboration somewhere along the line.

The reason we fast then is, for a moment to give up our comfort that can so easily give way to complacency. That discomfort beckons us to grow in dependency on God and in empathy for neighbor. In this way we can open our eyes and hearts to the needs around us and submit to listening for how God is prodding us into those places to pour ourselves out so that we may witness and take part in the abundance that is possible when we get together and collaborate. In this way we begin to restore the broken relationships that have led to such complex and systemic injustices in our communities. This is all part of our priestly calling as Christ followers to bless the world. But we cannot accomplish this by ourselves. Our dependency on God and our interdependency on each other are essential ingredients to creating just and healthy communities. We desperately need each other.

Much Love and Peace—Ben Hallett

Annual Conference Mission Challenge

Each year for Annual Conference, our Conference Board of Global Ministries and Annual Conference committees issue a mission challenge for local churches to bring items for relief efforts through UMCOR or a partner of UMCOR. (Remember our "onesies" collection last year?)

This year's collection is for Church World Service Emergency Clean-up Buckets. Each church is challenged to assemble at least one Cleaning Bucket and bring it to Annual Conference.

Beginning May 24, we will have a bucket available on Sunday mornings so you may contribute to this effort. Due to the specific needs for the buckets, we are asking you to contribute funds through June 7th. A committee of volunteers will then purchase the items and have the bucket or buckets ready for our Annual Conference delegates to deliver on June 14th when they arrive at Annual Conference at Pheasant Run in St. Charles.

Questions? Contact MaryAnn Burson bookwormburson@att.net or one of our delegates: Rev. Jamie Williams, Rev. Steve Williams, Kevin Garren, Julie Garren, Mary Spooner.

Summer Adventures

Before you head off for your summer adventures, why not consider moving to the new electronic giving option? Please contact Ruth Ross, our Business/Operations Manager, if you have questions or would like more information. She can be reached via phone at 847-362-2112 or via email at ruth.ross@umcl.org.

United Methodist Women

THANKS TO ALL UMW RUMMAGE SALE VOLUNTEERS

Women and men moved furniture, pianos, tables, pipes, saw horses and piles of clothing, sorting, displaying and selling goods donated, mostly by members of our Church, to benefit people in our community. The Scouts were a big help with setting up the inside and erecting the outside tent. Women brought food for the noon and evening meals consumed by the volunteers and posted flyers in Libertyville and surrounding towns. Thanks to the Church staff for their assistance and publication support. Some workers stayed Saturday afternoon to pack up the unsold goods, the display racks and tables. The sales will be close to $10,000 which will be distributed among several of the churches mission projects. —Beth March and Barbara Phlor

RUTH CIRCLE

Ruth Circle invites you to join us at the home of Cathy Dismer (1016 Michael Lane, Libertyville, 847-367-5502) on Wednesday night, May 20th at 7:00 PM.

We will be viewing the 2013 documentary "Finding Vivian Maier", who moved to Chicago in the 1950's employed as a nanny. Her passion for photography and her thirst to be "cultured" led her around the globe, and back to Chicago. Her photos show her affinity for the poor as she too struggled to get by, ending up homeless and eventually cared for by the grown children she had once cared for.

Second Mile Giving For May Will Support:

Mother/Child Survival – This UMCOR program provides essential care to mothers and children using community-based programs to achieve the ultimate goals of reducing both infant and maternal mortality and morbidity rates. This is done by educating individuals about nutrition, oral rehydration, immunization, and growth monitoring. Additional information regarding this program can be found in the Projects portion of UMCOR’s website: www.umcor.org, and the Global Ministries contact for this project can be reached at 212-870-3869.

Appalachia Service Project – From June 6-13, Ben Hallett will lead our youth and adult chaperones to the Blue Ridge Mountains in North Carolina where they will spend a week of service in ministry. Projects will vary during the week, but will include helping locals make their homes warmer and safer. General information for Appalachia Service Project can be found at www.asphome.org. For specific information or other questions, please contact the church office.
